BEHIND WITH ESTIMATES.

THE WORK TO BE DONE BY THE APPROPRIATION COMMITTEE.

Department Estimates Will Not Be Printed Before Congress Convene—Serious Charges Made Against United States Navy Officers—Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The estimates of all the departments for appropriations required for the fiscal year 1887-1888 are far behind. These estimates should have been transmitted to the treasury department on or before the 1st of October. While the law does not require the estimates to be transmitted to the treasury department earlier than the 1st of December, the committee on appropriations, who have to deal with the estimates, generally expect to have them before that date, especially when the coming session of congress is a short one, as is the case this year, for, unless they can get to work before congress convenes, the session is too short for all the work they have to do in regard to appropriations.

Knowing this, Mr. Randall, the chairman of the committee on appropriations, had a resolution passed by congress before adjournment in August, authorizing his committee to meet in November and begin the preparation of appropriation bills. Already Mr. Randall has come to town, although he had to come on crutches, the clerk of his committee is here, and the entire committee will be here in November, ready to work; but the outlook now is that the estimates will not be ready in time to be printed before congress convenes, and without the estimates, of course Mr. Randall's committee will have nothing to work on.

Charges of Smuggling.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The Post publishes an interview with an ex-corporal of the Marine Corps, who is now in business in Washington, in which the subject of smuggling in the navy is treated in a manner which reflects very seriously on a number of ex-government officers. The ex-corporal, during the course of the interview, gives details of a cruise of the United States sloop, Saratoga, which, he says, was made in 1880. He charges that the vessel was laden at Villa Franca with a cargo of carpets, rugs, silks, laces, gloves, etc., consigned to government officers in Washington; that the cargo was brought to Hampton Roads, and there, at night, transferred to the United States sloop, Tallapoosa, which vessel came down from Washington. The person interviewed claims to have been serving on the Saratoga during the voyage. The article has created a sensation in naval circles, and it is not improbable that an investigation will be made.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The presidential party to New York to witness the Bartholdi dedication ceremonies has not yet been fully organized, nor the transportation arrangements completed. At present it is expected that only the president, Secretary Bayard, Secretary Endicott, Secretary Whitney and Col. Lamont will go. It cannot be learned whether Mrs. Cleveland or the ladies of the cabinet ever contemplated going with the party.

Wheat Movement at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 26.—Wheat is arriving a little more freely, but not quite fast enough to interfere with the plans of western speculators. On some lines, of railroad the elevator companies have stopped buying. The strike is still causing some delay in the handling of cars at this point, but this will be obviated as the new hands become accustomed to their work. Nearly all the mills are grinding once more, and the wheels will undoubtedly be kept moving as long as the water holds out, a good stage being looked upon as the regular thing in the canal of late. During the week just closed the flour manufacture has been light, the daily product ranging from 2,000 to 3,000 barrels the first of the week, to 23,000 at the close. The flour market was hardened in sympathy with the rise in wheat, and millers have advanced quotations ten to fifteen cents per barrel.

A Columbus Man Arrested in Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—John Fry, a Columbus, O., contractor, was a prisoner at the Armory police station this morning. He was arrested at the request of the Ohio authorities. It is charged that he left Columbus suddenly, taking with him $700 which he should have paid to his employees. He will be taken back this evening.

DEATH IN A CREVICE.

Terrible Experience of a Brooklyn Man Which Ends in Death.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—In a by-gone age some convulsions of the earth split off a gigantic piece of trap-rock some three or four hundred feet long and fifty feet wide at Passaic Falls, Paterson, from the precipitous rock at the side of the river just below the cataract. The crevice is four feet wide at the top and probably narrows down to nothing about eighty feet below. It has, however, been partly filled with earth and leaves, so that the bottom of the opening is about a foot wide. A little foot bridge spans it, but people generally step across it when they wish to go to the edge of the precipice beyond. John Farley, of 379 Hamilton avenue, Brooklyn, lifted his four-year-old son on his shoulders at noon yesterday, and attempted to step across. His foot slipped and he and the child went down.

He is a very stout man, and he did not go more than fifteen feet till he was wedged between the walls of rock. He was held so tightly that he could hardly breathe. He kept hold of the child, however, and the latter was not even scratched. The child's screams brought assistance. A boy was let down with a rope and he fastened another around the child and it was pulled out. Then the boy was lowered into the crevice again, and after much trouble, a rope was fastened around Mr. Farley's body under his arms. It took all the men that could get a hold of the rope to get him started, and finally he was pulled loose and hoisted out. He was speechless, and soon afterward he fainted. He was taken in an ambulance to the Sister's hospital. He was in such a low state of vitality that the physicians forbade even that he be undressed to have his injuries examined, until by rest he should recover from the shock from which he suffered. He failed to recover and his death occurred at 6 o'clock in the evening. It is supposed he was injured internally.

LITTLE BROWN JUG.

How They Evade Prohibition Down in Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 26.—Sunday was Atlanta's first total prohibition Sunday. Senior Captain Crim said to the Post correspondent: "I have been police captain a great many years, and there were as many drunks Saturday night and Sunday as I ever saw in the same length of time, unless there was a circus or election here. The patrol wagon was kept moving."

The "jug" train to-day brought in over one hundred little brown jugs on its first trip. It is an amusing sight at the union depot to see the people make for the succulent jugs. Superintendent Hulbert says that the largest and most frequent patrons of this line are the total prohibitionists, who take a "nip" behind the door. He says a month hence 500 jugs a day will be received. No effort has been made to enjoin the express company.

They Don't Want Much.

MONTREAL, Oct. 26.—Four Cree chiefs who have been taking a trip east at the expense of the government, arrived here last night in charge of Col. McDonald. Their names are Big Child, Star Blanket, Fighting-in-the-Circle and Back Fat. Big Child is a redoubtable warrior, having been on the war path about a dozen times, but he says that if the demands be made to the premier are complied with, he will never again fight the Canadian soldiers. These demands are wonderfully moderate, being simply that all the Indian agents be replaced by honest men, who won't rob the braves, and that the government should provide each chief with a horse and buggy, to be maintained at the public expense.

Pleuro-Pneumonia in Pennsylvania.

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 26.—Dr. Bridge, state veterinarian, accompanied by Dr. Shaub, of this city, on Saturday, visited a herd of cattle belonging to Joseph O. Huss, in Martin township, two of whose cattle have died of pleuro-pneumonia. Several were inoculated. Dr. Shaub has received a telegram from Mr. Huss stating that some of the other cattle that were not inoculated Saturday, because of the difficulty in securing them, they being at pasture, were sick with pleuro-pneumonia. Dr. Shaub at once telegraphed to Dr. Bridge, at Philadelphia, and it is possible the latter will return to Lancaster, or authorize Dr. Shaub to visit the sick cattle.

Destructive Fire.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 26.—A special from Versailles, Mo., says: A most disastrous fire occurred here last night. It originated in the office of Vaughan & Clark's livery stable, on Newton street, about midnight. No one was in the stable at the time, and when it was discovered the entire building was in flames. Fifteen head of horses were burned to death. The wind was blowing a gale from the southwest, and the flames spread rapidly to the business blocks of the city, destroying the city hall, Masonic hall, several business houses and some smaller buildings. The loss is $50,000; insurance $18,000.

Two Kentucky Killings.

WILLIAMSBURG, Ky., Oct. 26.—William Broughton, a young desperado, shot and killed John Whistehunt, a prominent Knight of Labor, here yesterday afternoon. The parties were engaged in a playful scuffle, when Broughton pulled his pistol and fired. Whistehunt fell, with a hole through his right lung. The murderer was arrested and jailed. The jail was heavily guarded last night, threats of mobbing being freely made. Constable Joseph Gilliss, of this county, accidentally shot and killed himself yesterday morning. He leaves a large family in independent circumstances.

A Boy Murderer.

LEBANON, Mo., Oct. 26.—Otto Hillig, a farmer, living twelve miles from this city, was shot and fatally wounded yesterday afternoon by Charles Molott, the twelve-year-old son of a neighbor. Young Molott was throwing stones at Mr. Hillig's two little daughters, when their father approached and frightened him away. The boy ran to his home, procured a shotgun, returned, and fired the charge into Mr. Hillig's body, fatally wounding him.

Death of a Son of James Bowie.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Allen L. Bowie, son of James Bowie, made famous by the knife which bears his name, died in the New York hospital Saturday evening of consumption. He was thirty-seven years old, and had been a clerk in this city for years.

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMER WITH THE FRENCH DELEGATES.

M. Bartholdi and the Representatives of the French Government Who Will Take Part in the Unveiling of the Statue of Liberty Safely Landed in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The steamer La Bretagne, bringing the sculptor, Auguste Bartholdi and the distinguished delegates appointed by the French government to attend the dedication of the Statue of Liberty on Bedloe's Island, arrived too late last evening to land her passengers, and too late also to be met by the committee appointed to receive M. Bartholdi and his companions. The steamer remained at quarantine all night, M. Bartholdi and many of the passengers staying up until a late hour, observing everything of interest that could be discerned on shore in the glare of the electric light.

The reception committee consisted of Senator Everts, Levi P. Morton, John Bigelow, Noah Davis, Alfred LeFevre, Joseph W. Drexel, Henry Spaulding, Frederick Fott, Richard M. Butler, Parke Godwin, James W. Pinchott, Frederick Condert, Louis Detabain, Algernon Sullivan, Horace White, Whitelaw Reid, Jesse Seligman, Percy Payne, Cornelius W. Bliss, William S. Strong, George A. Glanzer, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Daniel F. Appleton, Charles Lanier, S. S. Page, Frederick Billings, Andrew Carnegie, Harry Hentz, Joseph Pulitzer, George F. Baker, Richard F. Hunt and N. M. Moore.

The committee started down the bay from Twenty-third street at 8:30 this morning, to welcome M. Bartholdi and the other members of the delegation, and to bring them ashore. The steam yacht carried the American and French flags and attracted much attention as she passed down the bay. Arriving alongside the French steamer, the members of the committee climbed on board and after the interchange of courtesies speech-making followed.

The French visitors were then transferred to the committee's yacht and they started for the city, slowing down as she passed Bedloe's Island, and receiving a booming salute from the flagship Tennessee and the treasury ships Saratoga, Portsmouth and Jamestown. The visitors turned their observation from the statue to listen to the booming of the cannon. As the yacht passed up the river she was saluted by the steam whistles of the ferry-boats and other craft along the river.

At the Twenty-third street dock several representatives of the circle Francaise de L'Harmonie and other French societies were assembled to meet the guests. Some slight delay occurred while handshaking, and then M. Bartholdi, M. De Lesseps and the other delegates were escorted to carriages and driven to the Hoffman house. At the hotel many prominent Frenchmen called to pay their respects. Tuesday evening the French visitors will be given a reception at the Academy of Music.

The members of the French delegation on board of the vessel were Count Ferdinand de Lesseps, president of the Franco-American union committee; August Bartholdi and his wife; Admiral Jaures and Gen. Peissier, delegates of the French senate; Messrs. Spuller and Desmouss, delegates of the chamber of deputies; Lieut. Villégente, aide-de-camp of minister of marine; Col. Bureau de Pusy, delegate of the minister of war; Col. Laussedat, director of the school of arts and sciences; Leon Robert, chief of the cabinet of the minister of public instruction; Mr. Deschamps, vice president of the municipal council of Paris; Mr. Hielard, member of the Paris chamber of commerce; Mr. Giroud, ex-deputy and delegate of the minister of commerce; Charles Bigot, delegate of the press of Paris; Napoleon Nev, president of the Commercial Geography society; Leon Manner, corresponding member of the Franco-American Union.

The guests of the French committee accompanying the delegation are Mr. Cotter, member of the administrative council of the Panama canal; Mr. Halphen, captain of the artillery and member of the major general's staff; Baron Salvador, consular agent at Detroit; Mr. Goudchaux, banker; Mr. D'Orgeat, correspondent of various Paris journals; Mr. Rageon, correspondent of L'Illustration; Mr. Chomeguet, of La France, and Mr. Clapot, of the Lyon Republican.

A Midnight Meteor.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 26.—A large and brilliant meteor passed over Atlanta about midnight last night. Just before the darkness was more intense than at any other time during the night. About two minutes before 12 o'clock a brilliant, strong light appeared directly overhead. The light was intense, and of a reddish cast, such as is made by a piece of red-hot iron. It made the earth perfectly plain to the eye, so much so that a pin could be seen, and attracted the attention of all who saw it. When the light flashed up everybody began looking about for it. When first seen it was directly overhead, and was moving at a terrific speed toward the east. As it went a hissing, boiling sound accompanied it. It was about as large as a flour barrel, and as it neared the earth appeared to be rolling over and over. It was round in shape, and when at about twenty-five degrees from the horizon broke into a hundred fragments, each one of which took a course of its own and disappeared, apparently going out. When the body broke up it made a report which was distinctly heard.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Leo Hartmann, who was charged with having planned and carried out the unsuccessful scheme to kill the Emperor Alexander II., of Russia, six years ago, by wrecking a railroad train on which he was expected to travel, was one of the last persons who were naturalized last week in time to vote at the approaching election. His scheme failed because the czar did not happen to be on the train. Hartmann managed to make his escape from Russia, and took refuge in Switzerland, where he hid himself and then went to England, where he also remained some time in concealment.

Death of H. O. Burr.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Oct. 26.—H. O. Burr, ex-member of the state legislature died suddenly Saturday night, aged fifty-seven years. He was a member of the Thirty-fifth Massachusetts during the war, and a Freemason.

MRS. A. T. STEWART DEAD.

Sudden Death of the Widow of the Great Dry Goods King.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Mrs. Cornelia M. Stewart, the wife of the late millionaire dry goods merchant, A. T. Stewart, died suddenly this morning at her residence, Thirty-fourth street and Fifth avenue. Mrs. Stewart died of congestion of the lungs and heart trouble. On Friday last she partook of dinner with Mrs. Henry Hilton, and on her way home contracted a heavy cold. She was compelled to remain in bed, and Dr. Milner, of 10 East Fortieth street, was sent for. Yesterday Mrs. Stewart grew worse, and Dr. Milner remained at the house all night. At half-past 9 o'clock this morning ex-Judge Horace Russell called and was informed that although Mrs. Stewart had spent a restless night she was feeling better and was able to sit up in bed without any great effort. At a few minutes after 10 o'clock ex-Judge Russell was surprised to learn that Mrs. Stewart was dead.

Mrs. Stewart was a native of this city. Her maiden name was Amelia Clinch, and she was the daughter of Joseph Clinch, a ship chandler. One of her brothers was Charles P. Clinch, collector of customs at this port. Since her husband's death Mrs. Stewart has led a very quiet life, although she occasionally entertained her friends, and continued to pay visits to her most intimate friends. Her name seldom came before the public, although a few years ago her gifts to a number of Hebrew charities attracted some attention. It was argued that the sums were intended to offset some of the ill feeling engendered in Hebrew circles by the exclusion of a prominent member of their race from the Grand Union hotel in Saratoga, at the instance of Judge Hilton, who had the entire management of the Stewart estate. Since that time the name of Mrs. Stewart has seldom appeared in the press, except in relation to her munificent donations in Garden City, and her persistent efforts to recover the dead body of her husband, so mysteriously stolen from its grave in St. Marks churchyard. Mrs. Stewart had just completed her eighty-fourth year.

WHOLESALE ROBBERY.

Burglars Clean Out an Entire Grocery Store in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 26.—Daniel Doherty's family, residing on Front street, near Whitaker, slept soundly last night, and awakened found the contents of their cupboards and wardrobes strewn promiscuously about side entrance, while the bureau drawers and other receptacles for valuables were broken open. Instinctively Doherty sought his pocketbook, which he had left in the second floor front room. It was gone, together with the $164 it contained. The money consisted of five $20 bills, two $5 bills, one $1 bill, $29 gold piece, $5 gold piece and $30 in silver. Doherty also missed the key of his grocery at 513 East Front street, a few doors distant, and hastening thither found the front door open, with the key in the door.

An inventory showed that the following goods, valued at over $250, had been stolen: Ten boxes of cigars, two dozen cans of oysters, 50 pounds of lard, 35 pounds of tea, 15 pounds of coffee, 40 pounds of sugar, 60 packages soap, 1 box soap, 2 gallons whisky, 101 packages starch and other goods. The thieves had entered the residence by forcing a rear window. They evidently came on a boat, in which the goods were received. Sergeant Story, of Fulton police station, is working on the case. There were half a dozen wash tubs in the cellar, which the thieves overlooked.

Assaulted and Stabbed.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Last night Dora Dolan and Bridget Moran, sisters and married women, were insultingly accosted by a negro as they were walking along an unfrequented road on their way to Hyde Park station. They passed hurriedly by without replying, whereupon the negro ran up and kicked Mrs. Dolan in the stomach, throwing her to the ground. He then drew a knife and slashed Mrs. Moran's forehead and knocked her down. He kicked her as he had her sister, and snatching a hand satchel, ran away toward Englewood. He has not been found. The women were discovered lying on the road unconscious half an hour later and were carried on stretchers to a police station. They are badly injured internally.

Beecher in Politics.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Deacon White called Mr. Beecher, Saturday, asking whether he thought his son Col. Beecher, should withdraw from the race for district attorney of Kings county, on the prohibition ticket, in favor of Gen. Tracy, the Republican candidate. Mr. Beecher replied: "At this distance I cannot advise. It would seem wisest to concentrate on Tracy, but William cannot withdraw without the good will and consent of the prohibitionists."

Relief for Fire Sufferers.

FARMINGTON, Me., Oct. 26.—A large number of citizens held a meeting in Mudie hall last night for the purpose of discussing the situation resulting from the recent fire. A committee on ways and means was appointed to assist in setting matters right, and to provide means for the relief of the destitute. It was voted to solicit financial aid from other than local sources. Contributions may be sent to J. W. Merrill, of the Franklin savings bank.

A Supposed Case of Drowning.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 26.—The dead body of Andrew Cenet was found this morning lying in a pool of water in a New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio railway culvert. He left his brother's house, which stands near the track, late last night, and it is supposed that in the darkness he fell into the culvert and was drowned. Cenet was forty-eight years of age, and leaves a family at Batavia, N. Y.

Death of a Prominent Politician.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 26.—Gen. John Rodman, the prominent lawyer and politician, who died here Saturday, was seventy-six years of age, and had suffered long from cancer in the stomach.
